SUPERINTENDENT'S MESSAGE

To The Graduates of the Class of 1988

It is good for us to dream the impossible, because now the impossible is possible. Achieving the moon is now history.

I thank you for staying on this road to success....education and the achievement of a high school diploma. I am puffed up and proud of you. You have completed this round, but don't even think about stopping because your future demands that you go a few more rounds.

Life is worth all you can give it. You deserve success and I wish I could will it to you. But, you have to earn it, usually through hard work.

So, as the English statesman, Daniel Burnham, wrote "Make no little plans: they have no magic to stir men's blood...Make big plans, aim high in hope and work".

PLAINFIELD HIGH SCHOOL
950 Park Avenue - 07060

It is with a great deal of pleasure that I take this opportunity to congratulate the stellar Class of 1988. Four short years ago you enter Plainfield High School with the ultimate goal of this day coming to fruition. During your stay, I have been extremely proud of you, for when the odds said that many of you would not succeed, you were able to realize this dream. As you depart this institution, please keep in mind the spirit of togetherness that we attempted to create. These days have been some of the most important days that you will ever live. With this in mind, please keep the message consistently in your head that if you can respect and be true to yourselves, you will in turn to one another. Your feeling of self worth, which we attempted to instill will do much to make you a successful, contributing member of this society. As you have often heard me say that "your attitude will determine your altitude, which means how high you will fly in this life." Fly high Seniors of Plainfield High School, don't be tempted to go astray, for today opportunity abounds in this country, but for only those who seek excellence. You are the best so be the best and always remember that Plainfield High School loves you and will continue to support you as you move ahead to the future.

HOMECOMING 1987

"We wanted the community to see that P.H.S. is on the move"

S. Mayo

Who's Bad

"The pageant which premiered this year was excellent. Overall, Homecoming 87 was big and beautiful because so many students, faculty, staff, and community members gave their time and concern."

S. Bernard

"This is the first really big Homecoming for Plainfield in a long time."

Class of 1991

PLAINFIELD HIGH SCHOOL
950 Park Avenue - 07060

Ladies & Gentlemen:

Perhaps the greatest tribute I can bestow upon the Class of 88 would be to proclaim that I feel a strong kinship to all of you. I shall never forget you, nor the times we endured, our triumphs, our learning experiences, our seemingly unlimited growth and development, our struggle to make a difference at Plainfield High School and our community.

In reflection, I recall that I entered Plainfield High School, as a new teacher, along with all of you. As a Freshmen teacher I eagerly took the challenge of becoming your class advisor. Thereafter, I made a promise to all of you that I would remain your advisor through the duration. Through those four years we moved forward, sometimes failing, yet always picking ourselves up, pushing forward. We have shunned the odds, climbed unsettled mountains, and finally now, we are able to see the light on the other side of the tunnel-and now that light is gleaming brightly, our hopes have become our realities. We have made a difference!

However, my fellow Seniors (and I shall always be one of you), I must caution you; difficult times lie ahead. Yet we will continue to grow and develop as human beings. I am confident that you all know that when there is growth and success there is always hard work and pain, and sometimes suffering. Yet, it will make us strong.

I advise you to continue to strive towards excellence, be the best at whatever you decide to do. Take pride in your community, remain steadfast to your convictions. Set the tone for leadership in the 1990's and beyond. You are the future leaders of America. Take the leadership and pave the way for a new beginning. Share with the larger society your concern for the issues of our time. May we all never allow the issues of world hunger, poverty, and unfairness in our society and around the world to be conveniently hidden in the coffers of inattention and indifference. Lay claim to what you want and forever fight for yourself and your fellow humans, it is you who will improve yourself and society.

I shall miss you, may God be with you always, with best regards,

Jeff Truitt, Class Advisor

The English Department, via its three branches: English, reading, and the Library, services the various intellectual and interest levels of the total student population.

All courses provide practical opportunities for the acquisition of proficiencies needed for satisfactory secondary and post-secondary schooling and adult literacy and career success. The particular courses of the Performing Arts Program (performance/dance, media, and broadcast journalism) cater to students with a predilection for knowledge about or a career in the fields of theatre, the visual arts, or communication. In the media center, the library media specialists provide both instruction and assistance to individuals expanding their knowledge through reading.

Mathematics

F. Charles

The courses offered in the Mathematics Department are designed to help students realize their mathematical potential. Many different sequences from basic skills through Calculus 2 are available which provide students with the opportunity of preparing for the future.

J. Hartmann

The overriding goal of the Vocational Department is to provide students with the training and credentials needed to obtain employment, while enabling them to develop related skills in the areas of mathematics, language and problem solving. Vocational course work emphasizes practical and concrete learning experiences. "Hands-on" activities are a significant part of the program.

In addition to the traditional program of studies including general science, earth/space science, biology, chemistry, physics, and photographic science, the Science Department offers the following special programs:

Research in Science

Air Force Junior Reserve Officer Training Corps (AFJROTC)

Students enrolled in the Research Program have been working both independently and with scientist and teacher mentors on research projects. Their work will be exhibited at the Second Annual Science Fair to be held in the PHS Cafeteria on Friday, January 29, 1988.

Social Studies

J. Truitt

The Plainfield High School Social Studies Department offers varied courses for students in grades 9-12. Our main focus is to provide a meaningful experience to prepare them for participation in the role of citizen as well as offer an opportunity to understand the dynamics of the world in which we live. The keystone of the program is United States History — a two year program required by the state of New Jersey. Students interested in government can elect U.S. Law and History and have Political Action instead of U.S. History 1 and 2, courses designed for the activist. These students form the backbone of student government, participate in a state-wide Model Congress. In U.S. History II, an Honors program is offered as well.

When springtime comes around, the Cardinal track team "migrates" from the confines of the halls of P.H.S. to the track. Plainfield has made a name for itself in track and field, and the "Blue and Red" might be seen anywhere from the Penn Relays to the Golden West Meet in California. The team this year has the potential to do it all. Maybe someone from this group will be the next Plainfield Olympian.

Otto Altenburg Pianos

Since 1847 the Otto Altenburg Piano has been famous among musicians.

A careful blending of old world design, elegant styling, and superior craftsmanship is responsible for the structural durability and tonal quality of the Altenburg grand piano.

Only the finest materials are gathered from around the world: wood from North and South America, Europe and Asia; Delignit pinblock and Röslau music wire from West Germany; and Royal George hammer felt from England are used to give the Altenburg pianos total excellence.

Pianos have been our business for 140 years and Altenburg Piano House has remained under the direct supervision of the Altenburg family for 5 generations.

EPITAPH TO A FRIEND

IN MEMORY OF KIRK BRADBY

*Kirk, your untimely death
Has left us with much sorrow
You are too young not to
Have a tomorrow.*

*We are told that it is
God's will and that we all
Must die someday
But a child, Why a child?
Why must a child die today?*

*It is difficult for us
To accept your untimely death
Yet, we need to express our
Thoughts and sadness
To emote, To cry, To deal
With life's madness.*

*Kirk, we will remember
Your friendly greeting and
Warm smile, your expressive eyes
Filled with much Love*

*Surely you were

*Oh, How we weep
At this time of great sorrow
Knowing for you on earth
There is no tomorrow.*

*God must give strength
To your parents, brothers, family
And friends
Help them understand your Tragic end.*

*Help them understand
Why there is no tomorrow
Comfort them in this time
Of despair, let them know you are safe in his heavenly hands.*

IN MEMORIAM

With a great deal of devotion and sincerity, we, the members of the Plainfield High School family dedicate the 1988 edition of the Milestone to the memory of Howard D. Rozzelle.

Understanding, patient, supportive, encouraging, generous these words describe one of Plainfield High School's most dedicated educators.

Mr. Rozzelle supervised the Business Department for thirteen years. He introduced and developed many innovative educational programs. Students receive local, state, and national recognition as a result of these programs. During his tenure at Plainfield High School, he also served as vice-principal from 1977 to 1979 and held membership and actively participated in many business and professional organizations. Many people became acquainted with Mr. Rozzelle through his varied interests. He knew and appreciated music, the performing arts, and literary works. He was an accomplished chess player and an avid sports fan. Mr. Rozzelle demonstrated his pride in high school students by attending many student activities and sporting events.

We regret the loss of Mr. Rozzelle, but the pain of his loss will be diminished by his living contributions to the educational system and to the Plainfield High School family collectively and individually.
